EPOTEC
THE Proven Hi Build Pool Coating
Spring' 16

Previously painted pool restorations.

EPOTEC is one of the most advanced epoxy coatings available to restore previously painted pools. EPOTEC adheres with no issues to exposed render, fibreglass or that old faded and ugly paint, providing that the preparation follows our guidelines. We can see dramatic results to the great satisfaction of our clients, whether professionals or those who did it themselves. Here are good examples of such projects. Dave from Baulkham Hills, having a badly neglected pool, followed all necessary guidelines with a result to be proud of. The pool looks like new and will have many years of life ahead of it, with family fun to match.

Crookwell Municipal Pool

The community of Crookwell (near Goulburn in NSW) have an aged, but well used 33 M pool. The existing pool coating was way past its use by date and the pool had numerous cracks and eroded concrete. Fortunately, the council decided to have it upgraded and have Epotec applied to bring it back to an as new condition. Epotec in colour Bondi, was applied over the repaired surface which was sealed first with Epotec WB epoxy sealer. Ken Watson was the contractor and brought many years of pool renovation experience to this demanding project. It can now be considered an important, long lasting and well used asset for the local community.

Fit for a Castle: Royal Blue (Pacific) EPOTEC pool in Castlecrag .

The DIY owners of this aged marble sheen pool in Castlecrag, Sydney, decided it was time to overcome the stains, the rough surface and the high chemical costs, trying to keep it clean. They resurfaced it with Epotec. After a thorough detergent wash, all areas we checked for eroded or drummy marble sheen and repaired. The surface then received an acid wash and when dry a coat of Epotec WB sealer to seal the porous surface. There after 2 coats of Epotec in Royal Blue applied. Looks fit for a castle.
