What's been happening with Epotec Pool Resurfacing?
(Epotec is a Hi Build Epoxy Coating, which provides a new surface inside your pool)

Autumn!!

The cooler nights and shorter days means the end of swimming for most of us. Time to hang up the bathers, cover up the BBQ and move in doors or down to the footie grounds.

Yet the pool is still there and has its needs to.

Maybe it's looking a bit tired after a busy season, harder to keep clean, some damage, worn surface areas or even a bit of black spot. May be its got too dull and just looks unappealing.

Cool, stable conditions are a great time to re surface your pool and have it ready for the spring, with out a last minute rush before the summer comes.

Recent projects include re surfacing Pebblecrete Pools, a White Epotec Pool, Commercial Pools including a 25 M indoor pool, in a Gym complex. These and others are shown on our web site: www.poolpaint.com.au

Therapy Pool

Fitness Perfection Gym in Dubbo has got 2 new indoor pools, protected with Epotec (colour Tasman). The decision was easy when seeking a hard wearing finish. Epotec has proven it self in demanding situations, year in - year out.

25M Pool

A white pool for Christmas in Sydney. The DIY owner wanted to recreate the pure white finish when re surfacing his Marblesheen pool. The finish is just perfect white!

Epotec has over 20 years proven usage in swimming pools in Australasia...you can have the same benefits.

Clean surface,
+1st coat

Pebblecrete pools are a challenge to keep clean once they get worn and dirty. Re surfacing them with Epotec Hi Build Epoxy Pool Coating provides a new decorative finish that is easy to clean and saves you cuts and abrasions from the former rough surface. Here's a DIY project in Sydney. A delighted owner.
